U. S. TROOPS IN FRANCE

Advance Guard of The Mighty American Army Arrives at French Port Without Mishap.

VAST EXPEDITION DEFIES U-BOATS

Maj. Gen. Sibert, Kentuckian, In Charge of First Force Which Will Take Its Place Beside The Allies On West Front.

Washington, June 27.—The advance guard of the mighty army of the United States is preparing to send against Germany is on French soil to-night. In defiance of the German submarines thousands of seasoned regulars and marines, trained fighting men with the fan of long service on the Mexican border, or in Haiti or Santo Domingo, still on their faces, have hastened overseas to fight beside the French, the British, the Russian, the Portuguese and the Italian troops on the western front.

News of the safe arrival of the troops sent a new thrill through Washington. No formal announcement came from the War Department. None will come, probably until Maj. Gen. Pershing's official report has been received. Then there may be a statement as to the numbers and composition of the advance guard.

Under Maj. Gen. Sibert.

Press dispatches from France, presumably sent forward with the approval of Gen. Pershing's staff, show that Maj. Gen. Sibert, one of the new Major Generals of the army, has been given command of the first force sent abroad, under Gen. Pershing as commander in chief of the expedition.

One thing stands out sharply, despite the fact that the size of the task that has been accomplished is not fully revealed as yet. This is that the American enterprise has set a new record for the transportation of troops.

Considering the distance to be covered and the fact that all preparations had to be made after the order came from the White House the night of May 18, it is practically certain that never before has a military expedition of this size been assembled, conveyed and landed without mishap in so short a time by any nation. It is a good augury of future achievements. The only rival in magnitude is the movement of British troops to South Africa in the Boer War, and that was made overseas that were unimpeded by submarines, mines or other obstacles.

Net Gain To Allies.

The American forces will be a net gain to the Allies. It will throw no single burden of supply or equipment upon them. The troops will be fed, clothed, armed and equipped by the United States. Around them at the camp on French soil to-night are being stored supplies that will keep them going for months and more will follow.

Gen. Pershing and his staff have been busy for days preparing for the arrival of the men. Despite the enormous difficulties of unpreparedness and submarine dangers that faced them, the plans of the Army General Staff have gone through with clock-like precision.

When the order came to prepare immediately an expeditionary force to go to France virtually all of the men now across the seas were on the Mexican border. Gen. Pershing himself was at his headquarters in San Antonio. There were no army transports available in the Atlantic. The vessels that carried the troops were scattered on their usual routes. Army reserve stores were still depleted from the border mobilization. Regiments were below war strength.

That was the condition when President Wilson decided that the plea of the French High Commission should be answered and a force of regulars sent at once to France. At his word the War Department began to move.

Gen. Pershing was summoned quietly to Washington. His arrival created some speculation in the press, but at the request of Secretary Baker the newspapers generally refrained from discussion of this point.

Frantic Cheers Greet Americans.
A French Seaport, June 27.—The second contingent of American troops arrived and disembarked this morning.

The troops landed amid the frantic cheers of the people, who had gathered for hours before in anticipation of duplicating yesterday's surprise.

Enthusiasm rose to fever pitch when it was learned that the transports and convoys had successfully passed the submarine zone. The port was speedily besieged in honor of the occasion.

All of the troops now arrived were transferred to-day to a camp not distant from this point, where Maj. Gen. William L. Sibert is installed. Thence they probably will go soon to a point near the front.

Profit on Sheep.

Esq. Leslie Combs, of Hartford, R. 2, recently sold the clip of wool and lambs produced from sixteen head of ewes this spring for the round sum of $275, or practically $17.17 profit per each ewe. Ask Leslie if he thinks it pays to raise sheep.

REAPPORTIONMENT, OF OHIO COUNTY

TWO INCOMPLETE HEARINGS HAD BEFORE JUDGE SLACK IN OWENSBORO.

In the matter of C. W. Moseley, et al., redistricting Ohio County into Magisterial Districts, the exceptors, W. S. Dean and others filed their petition in Equity in the Ohio Circuit Court and asked for a Writ of Prohibition to be issued, restraining Judge Jno. B. Wilson, Judge of the Ohio County Court, from entering his judgment redistricting the county as proposed in the report of the Commissioner's, W. N. Stevens and E. F. Render. A temporary writ was issued by the Hon. R. W. Slink, Judge of the Ohio Circuit Court, pending a hearing for a permanent writ and the hearing on the motion for a permanent writ was set for June 23rd, 1917, at the Court House in Owensboro.

About thirty persons and witnesses were present when the motion was called before Judge Slack on the 23, and the entire day was taken up in preliminary matters and argument of the counsel, pro and con, on the legal matters involved and the hearing not being completed was continued over to Tuesday June 26th, at which time Judge Slack again took up the motion and heard the evidence of the Plaintiffs. The defendant not being ready to introduce his proof asked for more time and the matter was continued over until Monday July, 2 at which time the hearing will be completed in Hartford.

The Plaintiffs allege in their petition for the writ of prohibition several grounds, as follows:

- 1.—That Judge Wilson was without jurisdiction to try the case because notices of the proposed reapportionment were not posted as required by law and the order of the County Court appointing the Commissioners did not state the facts giving it jurisdiction.

2.—The reapportionment cannot be made within 60 days of the Primary election at which Candidates for Magistrate are chosen.

3.—The report of the Commissioners, Stevens and Render is void because it attempts to abolish one of the now existing districts.

4.—The report of the Commissioners, Stevens and Render, is void because it does not comply with the Statute in laying off the boundaries of the various districts proposed.

5.—That the districts as proposed by the Commissioners, Stevens and Render, are unequal in area and population and the division unfair to the people residing in the respective districts.

6.—That the defendant, Jno. B. Wilson, Judge of the Ohio County Court, acted arbitrarily and had made up his mind in advance of the trial as to what his judgment would be; that his judgment was not supported by the evidence and that he heard no evidence at all on the part of the petitioners.

On the hearing last Tuesday various witnesses testified to the arbitrary ruling of Judge Wilson; that the Districts as proposed by the Commissioners Stevens and Render, are unequal in area and population and that there is no necessity for a re-apportionment of Ohio County into Magisterial Districts and that the Magisterial Districts as now composed are more equal in population and area and more convenient to the people residing in the various districts.

FEAR CREW LOST.

NO TRACE OF FIFTY OF BRITISH SHIP FOUND.

Base of the American Flotilla in British Waters, June 26.—One of the American destroyers in the patrol flotilla reported Monday morning she was unable to find any trace of the fifty members of the crew of a British merchantman, which was being attacked by a submarine when the American craft snatched the Britisher's wireless distress call from the air.

"Submarine shelling us," was the first message the destroyer picked up. The position showed the Britisher was 90 miles away, which meant a run of five hours through high seas for the destroyer.

The American craft was just getting under full speed when her wireless sounded the second and final message. It read: "Abandoning ship."

Only floating wreckage greeted the American blue jackets when they reached the scene, but they patrolled the vicinity for two days in the hope of finding some survivors. Owing to the high seas it seems doubtful if any of the sunken vessel's crew were rescued by passing ships.

him his military aide with the guard rank of Major. He held that post during the time he was working in Connecticut, but resigned when he returned to this city. In 1910 young Theodore, then 23 years old, was married to Miss Eleanor B. Alexander, and the marriage in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church had a smack of the army to it, for conspicuous among the guests were many Rough Riders, some in their old tags.

When the Plattburg camp was opened last year Theodore was among the first to win admittance. Based partly on what he learned by diligent work there and on what he had picked up in more or less close connection with the army, he took an examination for Major in the Reserve Officers' Corps. On February 6 of this year President Wilson signed his commission as Major of Infantry. He has spoken several times in churches here and at Oyster Bay on preparedness, and always emphasized the need of the country for "red-blooded men who were awake to obligation as regards national service."

Archie Liked the Big Guns.

Archie, the third son of the Colonel, was noted while at the White House for his chumminess with the army officers detailed at the Executive Mansion. Yet when he reached the proper age he slipped over to Boston from Harvard and enrolled in the Naval Militia, where, as he expressed it, he'd get a chance back of the big guns. When, however, his brother went to Plattburg, Archie decided to go along. Though he completed the course, he retained his membership in the naval service, and on April 11 of this year, when it was reported that the Massachusetts militiamen were to be called out, Boston was surprised by the announcement that "young Archie" was to wed Miss Grace Lockwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas St. John Lockwood of that city. The day following, Washington announced that young Roosevelt had successfully passed his examination for a Second Lieutenant in the Infantry Reserve. Three days later Miss Lockwood and he were married in Emmanuel church in Boston.

Both Wore In Militia.

Both of them have besides been members of militia organization, Theodore having held the post of Major in the Connecticut Guard, and Archie having served in the naval militia of Massachusetts. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., began his personal experience of military affairs on a bitterly cold afternoon in April, 1908, when he strolled away from the White House for a long trip in an army bungalow.

A second trip in the air convinced him that his particular sphere was aeronautics, and shortly after he filed an application for membership in the Aero Club.

While engaged in the manufacture of carpets at Waterbury, Conn., he took a keen interest in National Guard affairs and within three months Gov. George Lilley appointed

"Whereas the United States is now engaged in war with an enemy nation for the cause of liberty and free government both for ourselves and other nations and having been requested by Lieut. E. L. Barnett, recruiting officer for Co. H, 3rd, Ky. Inf., I hereby designate July fourth next as recruiting day for Company H, 3rd Ky. Inf., which company was organized and has been maintained in this county. It is my heart felt wish and hope that Co. H may be filled to war strength by young men who are residents of the county which it represents and that this may be accomplished before the call in selective draft proceedings. I have set apart the said day as a day on which all men not exempt under draft regulations may present themselves for enlistment."

JOHN B. WILSON,
Judge Ohio County Court.

Recruiting headquarters on the date named in this proclamation will be established at Sniphur Springs, Ky. The main office at Hartford will also be kept open on that date.

Recruits who are accepted on July fourth may be assured of their final examination and transportation to Lexington, Ky., not later than July 8.

Indications are that Co. H will be filled on or immediately after July fourth and when this is done the office at Hartford will be closed and it will then be too late to go with your friends and acquaintances. The total enrollment is now more than one hundred and full war strength is one hundred fifty.

BRIDE BEHIND; PASTOR LEAVES

WIFE DISCOVERS NOTE ONLY UPON HER RETURN FROM VISIT.

HAD CHANGED FAITH

Christian Minister Recently a Baptist, Now On Way to Europe.

Princeton, Ky., June 26.—The Rev. E. C. Craven, who has been pastor of the Christian church here since early in February, is missing, and his bride of a few months is much distressed over his disappearance. In a seven-passenger touring car, the property of his wife, he left here last Thursday and has not been heard from since. His wife, who was a wealthy widow of Eminence, Ky., when he married her, and her little daughter, were visiting in Eminence at the time of the disappearance, and was not aware that her husband had left Princeton until, upon her return, she found a note in which he informed her that when she reached home he would be aboard a vessel en route to Europe.

Little was known of the Rev. Mr. Craven before his arrival here to take charge of the Christian church other than that he had served as pastor of the Baptist church at Eminence, Ky., where he met the widow, who later became his bride. He went to Eminence from Louisville, where he spent a few weeks at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. After occupying the Baptist pulpit at Eminence several weeks he surprised his congregation one prayer-meeting night by announcing that he could no longer serve them as pastor for the reason that he was no longer a believer in the Baptist doctrine.

Renounces Baptist Faith.

On the following Sunday night the Rev. Mr. Craven united with the Christian church, of which the Rev. W. D. Eldred is pastor, at Eminence, and a week later preached for Mr. Eldred in the latter's absence. Through the Rev. Mr. Eldred, Mr. Craven met the Rev. H. W. Elliot, Kentucky State evangelist of the Christian church, and it was through Mr. Elliot that the Rev. Mr. Craven became pastor of the Christian church here.

Mrs. Craven, before her marriage a few months ago, was Mrs. Kate Caldwell, widow of C. A. Caldwell, who was a wealthy merchant of Eminence. She became acquainted with the Rev. Mr. Craven just six weeks before their marriage, which took place at Hotel Henry Witterton in Louisville.

Mrs. Craven probably will remain here until she disposes of the handsome furnishings with which she equipped the new home of herself and husband and little daughter, after which it is expected that she will return to her old home in or near Eminence.

During his brief stay here, the Rev. Mr. Craven became well liked. He told several persons here that he at one time was a surgeon in the British army. He is about 40 years old and posses a pleasant address.

INDUCT 134 AS RESULT OF ANTI-DRAFT DEMONSTRATION

Freeport, Ill., June 26.—Indictments against 134 alleged participants in the anti-draft demonstration at Rockford, Ill., June 5, were returned before Judge Keasaw M. Landis of the Federal Court here Monday. The alleged ringleaders, Clyde Howe, Euili Sehron and Earl Cully, were charged with conspiracy to thwart the registration law; the others were charged with violating that law. Bonds for the alleged leaders was fixed at $25,000 each and at $1,000 for the others.

CAMP DANIEL BOONE IS NAME SUGGESTED

A. L. Smith, of Woodburn, Warren county, suggests to the Courier-Journal that the name of the Louisville cantonment be "Camp Daniel Boone." Mr. Smith thinks this name would be the most appropriate. He is a great-grandson of Sarah Boone, who was a niece of the famous pioneer.

AIR SUPREMACY PLANS RUSHED

AMERICA'S PROGRAM BEING PUT INTO DEFINITE SHAPE.

FRENCH AND U. S. FIELDS

Main Training To Be Here, Finishing Touch Given In France.

America's aviation program, which is being planned on a scale sufficient to sweep the German flyers out of the air and literally blind the German army, is already under way.

Congress will within the next few days be asked to appropriate $600,000,000 to carry out these plans, but in the meantime the various branches of the Federal Government that deal with aviation are pushing the work of preparation on a large scale with money already appropriated.

Three of the great aviation fields which the War Department has planned are actually under construction sites for the other six fields have been chosen and work on them will soon begin. Cadets are now in training schools established in six representative engineering colleges and universities. Training planes have already been ordered and will be ready by the time the aviation fields are completed; and the instruction of the first group of 500 aviators will begin not later than August 1.

America's Contribution.

France and Great Britain, as well as our own experts, have made it plain they expect aircraft and aviators to be one of America's greatest contributions to winning the war. The Government can now say it is actually embarked on the task of overcoming its present deficiency in military aviation. We believe the outlook promises a quick development of the enormous latent air resources of the United States, which may be unprecedented in the military history of the world.

America is responsible for the invention of both the submarine and the aeroplane. In the development of both she has allowed Europe to outstrip her. It is for us to show we can yet surpass both our enemies and our Allies in the development of these two great inventions which Americans first conceived.

U. S. Has Rushed Plans.

It will surprise many people to know the United States has not only rushed plans for completion of a large number of aviation training schools in this country, but has selected a site and let contracts for construction of a duplicate of the American standard two-squadrons flying field in France to receive the first flyers graduated from the American fields.

It takes only four months to train a flyer. As America's new airmen finish their training they will embark for France. On French soil, under French instructors and with French machines they will complete their preparation for work at the front.

This training field in France will be entirely a product of American brains and American energy. The buildings will be constructed and the planes prepared by an American contracting firm with materials shipped from the United States.

Construction Work Begun.

Thousands of men are now engaged in preparation of the aviation fields at Dayton, Ohio, Champaign, Ill., and Detroit, Mich. The Government has made them emergency projects and nothing is being permitted to hamper their rapid construction. The work on these is being separately conducted and they will in no way interfere with the new army cantonments.

Work began more than two weeks ago on the big four-squadron field at Dayton. It is significant that this field of 2,500 acres, the largest of all, is on the site of the original field on which the Wrights developed their first successful aeroplane. The modest field of 86 acres in which the Wrights carried out their experiments is within the boundaries of the big, new Government field.

The Dayton field, which is twice as big as any of the others, will accommodate 144 aeroplanes and 300 flyers can be trained there at one time. As the training period is just four months this means that this one field should graduate nearly 1,000 flyers within one year. Including officers, enlisted men, instructors and mechanics, there will be 1,700 or more persons at the school.

Aerial Navy Certainty.
The instructors for these fields will be members of the aviation section of the regular army who have been at the Mexican border, and as fast as the cadets are trained a few of the most promising will be utilized for training newcomers.

America is launched on the great est and most inspiring enterprise in the world's history, that of winning the war in the air. There are enormous obstacles in the way, but I am confident they can be surmounted.

The great American aerial navy is a certainty and its realization is not for distant.

URGES PHYSICIANS BE DRAFTED FOR WAR DUTY

Washington, June 25.—Application of a selective draft to provide physicians and surgeons for the war armies was urged upon the Defense Council's General Medical Board today by officers of the medical section of the New York National Defense Committee.

Major Karl Connell, heading the New Yorkers, submitted data to prove that out of 140,000 doctors in the United States less than one-half are available or desirable for military service. He said the volunteer system failed to protect local medical needs and that the policy of allowing or urging doctors to volunteer indiscriminately would result in confusion, waste and failure.

The committee on standardization of medical and surgical supplies and equipment, which has been at work on the problem of overcoming the shortage in surgical supplies and instruments, due to the large percentage of this material which has heretofore been imported from Germany, reported to-day that through co-operation among American manufacturers substantial progress had been made on increasing the output for war purposes.

The committee is rapidly perfecting a complete standardization of all medical instruments and apparatus, through which the simplest type and the smallest number of styles of instruments consistent with scientific performance will be turned out by all manufacturers.

TARS SHOT CUTS U-BOAT IN HALF

BRITISH STEAMER SINKS GERMAN SUB. AT DISTANCE OF FIVE MILES.

An Atlantic Port, June 25.—Members of the crew of a British steamer which arrived here to-day reported having sunk an attacking German submarine. The British vessel sent a shell into the U-boat's magazine, causing an explosion which parted the underwater boat about midship. Each end sank separately. The British steamer was uninjured.

The submarine was five miles distant and running away after having attacked the Britisher nearly 400 miles off the coast of Ireland.

Soon Got the Range.

According to the story told by the gunner of the British steamer, the submarine was first seen when she sent a shell at the steamer from a distance of about 3,000 yards. It fell short, and the steamer immediately swung around so that her stern was toward the U-boat, getting the naval gun at work. Eleven shots were fired in rapid succession, and each struck home to the German.

"I knew I had the range after the second shot, and so did the German," said the British gunner.

"The Germans were using their two guns, fore and aft, while we had only one, but the shells were falling short, and he started to run. I followed him with shell, and the twelfth, the one that sent him down, struck just abaft the periscope. He was then more than 9,000 yards away.

Saw Boat Break in Two.

"We could all see the boat break in half and go down, disappearing within a few minutes. I sent four more shots into the water at the spot where she disappeared to let any of the fates who might have escaped know that we were still around and would take care of them if they appeared.

"At the same time our battle was going on the wireless operator picked up the call on an American vessel that arrived at an Atlantic port last Friday) and also caught a message that another American ship had been torpedoed and was sinking. The message said that the German was firing on the lifeboats. That vessel was about thirty miles to the south of us, and I do not know how they made out."

The steamer's captain and other officers would not discuss the battle, the story was obtained from other members of the crew.

HALF MILLION IN 3 MONTHS

FIGHTING FORCES OF U. S. NOW NUMBER 700,000 TO 800,000.

TWO BRANCHES DOUBLE

National Guard and Marines Near Required Number, Regulars Still Short.

Washington, June 24.—More than half a million men have volunteered in the American army and navy during the period of less than three months that has elapsed since war was declared to exist.

The Army, Navy and National Guard represented an aggregate strength of little more than 300,000 men when the war resolution was adopted. To-day between 700,000 and 800,000 are enrolled in the various branches of the fighting service and the great majority of them are armed equipped and under training. They will be joined at the end of the summer by nearly a million men, selected for the new national army from the millions registered for war duty June 5.

The regular army totaled a little more than 100,000 men three months ago, it is nearing the 250,000 mark today and War Department officials, backed by the press of the country, are bending every effort to bring it up to 300,000 during the present week.

The National Guard, 150,000 strong when war came, numbers nearly 200,000 today, according to the best estimate available. Of that number nearly 75,000 actually are under arms, guarding against German plotters and doing the job in a thorough and soldierly way as shown by the trivial damage the plotters have been able to inflict.

Marine Corps' Growth.

The marine corps, whose slogan of "First to fight," has been respected by the Government in attaching a seasoned regiment of sea soldiers to Maj. Gen. Pershing's expeditionary force to France, has been raised from 17,000 to nearly 30,000 men.

The regular bluejacket force of the navy, the men behind the big guns and who already are trying their metal against the enemy in the waters off the Irish coast under Vice Admiral Sims, or upon armed American freighters, has been raised from 60,000 to 120,000. The boys of the country have thronged to the navy in such numbers that recruiting stations could not be built fast enough to accommodate them.

An entirely new force of railway engineers for duty in France to handle railway problems behind the fighting lines, also has been created. Recruiting figures are not available but it is known that some of the regiments are now at full strength and ready to go. Probably 12,000 men have already joined these regiments.

Forty thousand picked men are under strenuous training at the officers' training camps, insuring good junior officers for the national army. Other thousands are doing their share at the medical corps and engineer corps training camps, and still others are with the naval coast defense reserve keeping the Atlantic coast free from the submarine menace and insuring a clear road for the endless stream of cargo carriers which are taking thousands of tons of American war supplies and food to the French, Belgian, British and Italians, who are holding the lines against the enemy.

The immediate need, Administration officials believe, is to bring the regular army up to its full strength without delay. These are the first-line troops, the men who will be the first Americans to face the German hosts. They will be the bone and sinew of Gen. Pershing's army, and there must be no delay in getting them ready to go.

TANKS PRAISED BY GERMAN OFFICER

Amsterdam, June 24.—Lieut. Gen. Baron Von Ardenne, of the German army, pays ungrudging tribute to the "tanks" or armoured and armed tractors, which the British have been using so effectively. Writing in the Berlin Tageblatt, the Baron says: "These powerful armoured cars, which were first used by the English, are undoubtedly the most wonderful weapon that modern tactics have revealed in land warfare. Altho German howitzers are more than able to cope with them in battle, their fighting efficiency should not be underestimated. They cross trenches from ten to fifteen feet in width and enter thru the most elaborate barbed wire entanglements with ease.

"They have caused us considerable loss in flanking fire. The tanks have been compared to the ancient seyded-chariots of Pharaoh's time, but the comparison minimizes their attacking power. A more historical comparison would be the battle elephants of Hannibal."

DESTROY GERMAN NAVY BY TORPEDO PLANES

AERO CLUB ENDORSE PLAN ADVOCATED BY RETIRED REAR ADMIRAL

New York, June 25.—Destruction of the German fleet at its base by torpedo planes, while he styled the most powerful and mobile of weapons, was advocated in a letter which Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fiske, retired, sent to the Board of Governors of the Aero Club of America. Such a weapon, Admiral Fiske declared, would give the Allies complete control of the North Sea, even the shallow waters along the German coast, and would prevent German submarines from leaving ports. The Aero Club, through its governors, endorsed the plan.

"In air raids over the land the strategical advantage lies with Germany," said Admiral Fiske, "because her most important towns, like Berlin, are farther inland than the most important towns of the Allies. Like London. So the airplanes of the Allies, in order to reach Berlin would have to fly over greater distances while exposed to the fire of other airplanes, than do the Germans in going to London.

"For raids on naval vessels, however, the advantage lies with the Allies because their control of the deep waters of the North Sea enables them to establish a temporary aeronautical base of mother ships sufficiently close to the German fleets in Kiel and Wilhelmshaven, while the Germans could not possibly establish an aeronautical base sufficiently close to the British fleet.

"This gives the Allies the great advantage of the offensive. It would seem possible for the Allies to send a large number of airplane motherships to a point say fifty miles west of Heligoland and for a large force of fighting airplanes and torpedo planes to start from this place about two hours before dawn, reach Kiel and Wilhelmshaven about dawn, attack the German fleets and sink the German ships.

"Of course, the attack would be resisted by German airplanes and fighting would be needed, but no war has been decided except by fighting, and in the present case the Allies, now the United States has joined them, could unquestionably put an overwhelming number of airplanes in the battle."

Whooping Cough.

In this disease it is important that the cough be kept loose and expectoration easy, which can be done by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mrs. P. H. Martin, Peru, Ind., writes,

PATRIOTIC PLOWING

The St. Paul Garden Bureau Encourages Community Gardening

FIFTY-FIVE Saint Paul families will become soldiers of the soil when many gardens are planted on the 11-acre tract of land given by a local real estate firm for the use of home gardens. The tract has been divided into lots of 30 by 125 feet, and each family will plant a supply of vegetables.

The land has never before been under cultivation. Children cleared the land of rubbish and the city hauled it away.

The land has been made ready for seeding by a Staude Mak-a-Tractor made by the F. G. Staude Manufacturing Company, Saint Paul, Minnesota.

The tractor attachment is brought into nine miles of tortuous trails to the top of Mount Wilson.

The Carnegie Fund has expended hundreds of thousands of dollars in building the huge dome at the Mount Wilson Observatory, which is to house the mirror and its telescopic apparatus, and all this expenditure will go for ought if the slightest accident happens to the giant mirror in transit.

It required twelve years to cast and shape this immense disk. Because of the war it can not be duplicated in the rough, so its intrinsic value is inestimable.

The mirror will ride on edge in an octagonal airtight box that is ten feet deep and about two feet wide. Between the glass and the box will be successive layers of carded wool padding.

So accurate has been the grinding of the big block of glass that the changes in it from the heat of a man's body three feet away will affect its usefulness.

The mirror is thirteen inches thick and weighs four and one-half tons. It was ordered east at St. Gobain's, France, in 1905. It was received here in 1909.

TROUSERS, BLOWN 45 MILES, ARE RETURNED

Hickman, Ky., June 26.—A pair of trousers, whose pockets contained a pair of pliers, two pocket-books, a bunch of keys and five cents, has been returned to the owner after having been blown forty-five miles away by the cyclone which recently swept over Western Kentucky. All the articles in the pockets when the trousers were blown away were returned with the apparel.

NO DELAY ANTICIPATED

In Construction Of The Sixteen Cantonments For The National Army.

Washington, June 23.—There will be no serious delay in construction of the sixteen cantonments for the national army, Secretary Baker said today and all of the establishments probably will be ready about September 1, the tentative date considered for summoning to the colors the first 625,000 men. The process of selecting the men, the Secretary indicated probably will be set in motion early in July.

Regulations for the exemption and selection processes have been prepared and will be made public next week. President Wilson is understood to have approved the general scheme worked out by the War Department to secure fair and unselfish application of the law thru local officials. Minor modifications are being made but plans will be complete in a few days.

Machinery for the great task of construction is complete and in some cases actual physical preparations have begun. Most of the contracts have been let, army officers have been detailed to oversee construction and under an order published today the engineer units of the National Guard of Fifteen States will be mustered into the Federal service immediately to aid in technical features of the work.

Army Engineers To Supervise.
At each cantonment, it was announced to-day, all construction operations will be under direction of a Quartermaster. Seven of the men designated for these posts are regular army officers and the other nine are successful civilian engineers who have been commissioned as majors in the Quartermasters' Reserve Corps. The department attaches particular importance to the work of the constructing Quartermasters because as the responsible representatives of the Government they will check up all the figures of the contractors to see that their cost plus percentage contracts are fairly exacted.

The only question as to cantonment sites that is not finally settled, Mr. Baker said, involves a possible relocation of the cantonment now assigned to Des Moines. Objection has been raised to the Des Moines location on the ground that railway facilities are not adequate and that it will be impossible to provide proper drainage. These points have been reopened for consideration.

Building of the cantonments, the Secretary said, would proceed on the present general specifications, the some minor modifications would be made because of suggestions by the medical committee of which Gorgas is a member. After the camps are built and the troops under training, additional funds may be asked of Congress to carry out further the suggestions of the doctors.

The main problems now are those of material and transportation. A new difficulty has presented itself in the shape of a shortage of iron pipe. An enormous quantity of piping will be needed for the mains and connections at the camps and the available supply officials say will not meet the demand without crippling ordinary activities of the country. For this reason a considerable quantity of wooden piping will be used.

By way of emphasizing what can be done in a short time, when all the resources of the department are put to work, officials revealed today that cantonments for the regular army made necessary by the expansion for war purposes have been rushed almost to completion. The work did not involve, of course, anything like the amount of material or labor needed for the sixteen big cantonments, but it was in itself a big undertaking and was put thru on record time.

SILTS COCK'S TONGUE
SO HE COULD SLEEP

Portland, Ore., June 26.—It cost John Wilcox, 68 years old, of this city, exactly $25 to experiment with the crowing machinery of a neighbor's rooster. John couldn't sleep 'o' mornings because of the persistent exercising of the rooster's vocal organs. So John caught the crowing cock and slit its tongue in the hope that peace would reign thereafter in the neighborhood. The Portland Humane Society succeeded in getting a $25 fine assessed on the amateur throat specialist.

PRINCESS MARY SERVES SOUP IN BIG FACTORY

London, June 25.—Princess Mary has been in the garb of a munition worker, and has rubbed shoulders with girls in the factory and served them soup. Her experience was not "somewhere in Middlesex."

Girls rushed to the windows in the factory when the visit was announced and looked for her royal highness in the string of automobiles that came down the lane. But she slipped in the plant on foot in democratic way and when the disappointed workers went to lunch at the adjacent canteen they found the Princess overalled and smiling, standing by the counter.

It was busy hour for the Princess because so many of the girls were eager to purchase from her and quite a few came back just to get a royal smile. Following the service at the canteen the Princess toured the factory.

U. S. DESTROYER TOO LATE; SHIP IS SUNK

GOES TO AID MERCHANTMAN, U.
BOAT HAS SCORED AND DUCKED.

Here of the American Flotilla in British Waters, June 23.—To see a merchant ship torpedoed as an American destroyer was speeding to her rescue was the exasperating experience reported by the commander of the destroyer upon his return here to-day. Fortunately the destroyer arrived in time to pick up all the crew, many of whom were swimming about.

The destroyer was convoying a food ship when she received an S. O. S. from a merchantman which was being attacked by a submarine thirty miles away. Leaving the food ship at the risk of losing her, the destroyer sped to the assistance of the other vessel only to be greeted when almost within hailing distance by a terrible explosion and the spectacle of a great column of water enveloping the ship, but not the slightest sign of the enemy.

Quickly picking up the crew the destroyer put back at full speed to the food ship in order to save her from a like fate.

THOSE AWFUL CRAMPS

Suggestions that may save
Much Suffering

Marysville, Pa.—"For twelve years I suffered with terrible cramps. I would have to stay in bed several days every month. I tried all kinds of remedies and was treated by doctors, but my trouble continued until one day I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for others. I tried it and now I am never troubled with cramps and feel like a different woman. I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly and I am recommending it to my friends who suffer as I did."—Mrs. GEORGE R. NAYLOR, Box 72, Marysville, Pa.

KERENSKY MAY BE SECOND NAPOLEON

YOUNG WAR MINISTER LOOKED UPON AS HOPE OF NEW RUSSIA.

IS A NATURAL LEADER

Has Marks of Bonaparte of Old and Holds Confidence of the People.

Washington, June 24.—That Alexander Kerensky, Russia's new war minister, will become the Russian Napoleon and lead her discouraged armies to victories under a dictatorship like that which Bonaparte created in France 118 years ago, is the growing conviction of students of Russian affairs in Washington who are alive to the lesson of history.

Conviction that Kerensky will be the Russian Napoleon is no fanciful surmise, but the reasoned conclusion of scholars who believe the development of leaders is shaped by the inescapable current of great events.

They see in Russia precisely the conditions that existed in France following the revolution and reason it's course must be at least similar.

In 1799 the French directory, which occupied a position analogous to the Russian provisional government, had lost the power which it once possessed over the French people.

France was surrounded by enemies. The French treasury had run dry. The army was starving and disorganized. Like the now an army it had thrown off the old discipline and soldiers were deserting by thousands.

Peace agitation filled the air. Weary with long struggle and fearing its independence was safely guarded by the Rhine and the Alps, the nation longed for peace.

The directory knew peace would be suicidal but was powerless to continue aggressive warfare until as a last resort Napoleon was placed in charge of the armies of France just as Kerensky was last week named to command the armies of Russia.

So much for similarity of national conditions. Let us look now at the men.

Like Kerensky, Napoleon had been one of the most ardent of revolutionists and strong antimонаrchist.

A follower of Rousseau, his pro-republican essays were written in the same temper and with as great earnestness as the fiery speeches of Kerensky in the duma.

When Napoleon took charge of the armies to save France he had no more idea of becoming emperor than Kerensky has.

Kerensky's great speech announcing re-establishment of iron discipline in the Russian army sounds almost like an echo of Napoleon's speeches to the French armies of 1799.

Even in features there is a marked resemblance between the two.

It's true Kerensky lacks military training, but to-day victory requires organization and consolidation of entire nations, not mere groups of soldiers.

This is a task for a statesman, not for a soldier. It was Lloyd George not a member of the British military staff who reorganized Great Britain for victory. For this task the training of Kerensky admirably fits him.

And above all he has caught this imagination and captured the confidence of the Russian soldiers and peasants to the same degree as the Little Corporal held the French people and its army enthralled by his courage and daring.

Out of the volcanic upheaval of every revolution some leader of overwhelming greatness has appeared.

Is it not reasonable to expect that the Russian revolution will run true to form and develop its Napoleon or its Cromwell, in the person of some genius as Kerensky who today holds in his hands the fate of Russia and perhaps the fate of the entire world?

French Women To Drive
War Autos Behind Lines

Paris, June 26.—Between 150 and 200 women soon will be driving military motor cars behind the front. Women have tried since the beginning of the war to enlist in the automobile war the center of this group and it has secured the signatures of several hundred of the thousand women in Paris who hold licenses to drive motor cars. The busses held them back until now.

The women are obliged to enlist for three months and to agree to submit scrupulously to military rules and discipline. They will in the beginning replace motor ambulance drivers in the foreign sanitary sections who are transferred to other services. Later on they may replace men in other automobile sections. The commanding officers of our military divisions have made applications for women recruits to drive service cars.

KENTUCKY SURGEON ASKED TO TAKE UNIT TO FRANCE

Lexington, Ky., June 24.—Dr. David Barrow, a physician, of this city, has been commissioned to organize a base hospital unit for service in France. Information received here is to the effect that about twenty doctors will be enrolled, all of whom, it is expected, will come from the Fayette County Medical Association. Sixty nurses will accompany the unit. Dr. Barrow tendered his services to the War Department some time ago and has renewed his efforts, which have finally met with success.

YOUNG GIRLS STEAL; LOOK FOR CRIME BUMP

Bloomington, Ind., June 25.—Two little 11-year-old girls may be examined by physicians of Indiana University for the "hump of criminality" which caused them to enter into a criminal career with a vengeance.

They have been incorrigible for several years, and their escapades culminated in what for an older person would have been robbery, besides a joy ride. Going to the home of a merchant, one of the girls asked if she might leave her apron there and entered into conversation. The man consented and left the room for a few minutes. After the girls had left he discovered a wallet containing $17 had been stolen.

The two girls, relating their escapade later, said they proceeded to a jewelry store, where one of them purchased a gold bracelet. They then visited clothing stores and made liberal purchases. When dressed in style, they called a taxi and ordered the driver to take them to a pleasure park and later to a moving picture show. After a choice dinner later at a cafe, the girls bid the man money and went home about midnight, after a wonderful day.

CAN READ BY LIGHT OF NIGHT BOMBARDMENTS

New York, June 26.—Sergt. Arthur G. Empey, an American who served in the British army a year and a half before he was wounded, told members of the New York University Alumni Association that intense bombardments raging along the western front gave sufficient light to read a newspaper in the first trench.

Empey said army chaplains hold services sometimes on gun carriages with one eye on the hill and the other on German aeroplanes. The Prussians, he said, are the most ferocious fighters, with the Bavarians next and the Saxons third.

FRIDAY, JUNE 29

The greatest trouble we see with these long days one hears so much about, is the fact that morninig comes too all-fired soon.

Candidates seeking nominations in the coming Primary, should not forget to file their nomination papers on or before July the 4th "next Wednesday." If you fail to file it's all off with you for this Primary.

That was a costly and unwise slogan we used in the campaign last year "He Kept us out of War" because the great majority of us being of a simple and confidential turn of mind, can't for the life of us, see just how it ever happened, with him up there.

We notice in an esteemed contemporary the following: "There are thousands of people to-day who are holding President Wilson individually responsible for our having to fight Germany just because he happens to be at the head of the Nation." Well, if he kept us out of war for two years and more and took unto himself all of the credit for our being out of war, in November, and prior thereto, and was re-elected for that special purpose and upon that special plea, then why are we—?

The article last above referred to closes as follows: "True blue Americans though, irrespective of politics, takes the sensible view of the matter" It makes no difference as to how the things we may say are construed, we are for the good old U. S. A., first, last and all of the time, knowing our heart and its desires, we are perfectly assured that we love our Country its traditions and institutions, and the Flag, yes, even every star and stripe emblazoned upon the tattered old Rag, and set by the blood of Patriots, for which "if you will excuse me" my Father and Grandfather gave up four of the best years of their lives. Our love for, and devotion to this Country in its every nook and cranny, we feel is sometimes passionate and at all times reverent. Not in spite of, but because of all this, it is reserved for us and we reserve unto ourselves not maliciously, only in a spirit of honest mindedness and fairness, to criticise and differ with any man, tho he be upon that pedestal high above and over us all, because his rights are only man-given, and therefore no more sacred than those of the most humble law abiding citizen. To take a different view, and impugn to those who may fairly and honestly offer criticism, as un-American and of unpatriotic motives, is most natively out of order and at this particular time in our judgment, especially hurtful.

U. S. ENTRY IN WAR ADVANTAGIOUSLY FELT

London, June 26.—The total national expenditure for the nine weeks from October 8 to December 9 last was on a daily average of £6,15,000 says statement, in detail, prepared by Andrew Bonar-Law, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, for the House of Commons.

For the five weeks from April 1 to May 5, 1917, the statement shows the daily average of expenditure was £7,971,000 while for the five weeks from May 6 to June 9 it was £7,532,000.

For the ten weeks from April 1 to June 9 the expenditure shows to have averaged £7,752,000.

For the respective periods set forth the actual war expenditure daily, the Chancellor states, was £5,714,000, £7,457,000, £5,989,000 £6,723,000.

The increase in expenditure for army service, says the statement, is in part attributable to payments and advances which are ultimately recoverable. The expenditure for munitions was affected by temporary causes, such as more rapid delivery made on the termination of certain orders, but notwithstanding this, the Chancellor fears there will be some excess, under the heads of army and munitions, over the figures of the budget estimate.

Regarding loans to the Allies, continues the statement, the Government was still liable during the opening weeks of the current year to fulfill commitments undertaken before the entry of America into the war. The advantage of America's entrance, he explained, was now being felt.

AMERICA'S BUSINESS TO MAKE ANNOUNCEMENT

London, June 26.—Asked by Joseph King, Liberal member for North Somerset, in the House of Commons to-day whether the "American soldiers now on the western front are under the supreme command of the French generalissimo or Gen. Haig or the American General," Henry William Forster, Financial Secretary of War, replied:

"The American Government will doubtless make suitable announcement as to the disposal of their forces when they consider it opportune to do so."

Continuing to question the Secretary, Mr. King asked:

"Does that imply that he doesn't know what the answer is?"

"No, it does not imply that," Mr. Forster answered. "It means I do not think it desirable to say."

U. S. LOANS TO ALLIES BEYOND BILLION MARK

Washington, June 27.—American loans to the Allies passed the billion-dollar mark to-day when the Treasury placed $15,000,000 to the credit of Great Britain and $10,000,000 to France's account.

Credits to all the Allies to meet their expenditures in this country now total $1,008,000,000, of which Great Britain has received $550,000,000 and France $210,000,000.

KAISER WANTS BULGARIA TO BREAK WITH U. S.

Copenhagen, June 27.—Germany is bringing strong pressure on Bulgaria to induce that country to break off relations with the United States, according to information received here. Official and public opinion in Bulgaria is against a break, and the only circumstance which it is said would turn sentiment in favor of a rupture would be the appearance of American troops in Saloniki, a possibility that seems to have been suggested to Bulgaria.

Peter T. Parks.

Mr. Peter T. Parks, aged 87 years and 6 months, died at the residence of his son, W. Q. Parks, in Beda Tuesday at noon. Funeral services were conducted at Mr. Parks' residence Wednesday at 11 o'clock, a. m., by the Rev. H. W. Napier, assisted by Rev. R. D. Bennett, after which the remains were buried at the Beulah Church, burial grounds.

Deceased was one of the most respected citizens of the community in which he resided. For years Mr. Parks was the possessor of a formula for the manufacture of herbal remedy for the treatment of tubercular troubles, in the early stages of which he was quite successful with his treatment.

The death of Uncle Peter, as he was generally called, marks the passage of one of the last of the old time residents of that community and he will be greatly missed. Besides a number of other relatives, there survives the deceased, three sons, W. Q. Joseph and Albert Parks.

FAMOUS OLYMPIA GOES AGROUND

OLD CRUISER ASHORE OFF BLOCK ISLAND, R. I. IN DENSE FOG.

WAS DEWEY'S FLAGSHIP

Took Part in the Battle of Manila. Portion of Crew Removed.

Block Island, R. I., June 26.—The United States cruiser Olympia, Admiral Dewey's flagship at the Battle of Manila, ran aground in the fog off Block Island early to-day. The cruiser was reported in a bad position, with considerable water in her hold.

Chief Machinists' Mate William M. Babb lost his life when he was struck on the head by a falling hatch. No other fatalities were reported.

Warships and wrecking vessels were standing by the ship to-night. The sea remained calm, but it was reported as a precautionary measure a part of the crew had been taken off.

Out For Target Practice. The Olympia put out yesterday for target practice, and it is supposed she struck during the thick fog which stretched far out from shore. Details of her exact position could not be learned here.

The Olympia was recently assigned as the flagship of the coast patrol fleet of the Second naval district. Immediately after she flashed out word of her mishap members of the patrol fleet went to her assistance, but it was found that the famous old warship was in no immediate danger of breaking up.

Chief Machinists' Mate Babb was killed as he was coming up on deck. His next of kin is his mother, Mrs. Sarah Babb, who lives at Reading, Pa.

Easy Position.

Washington, June 26.—Reports to the Navy Department to-night indicated that, while the Olympia was seriously damaged by grounding, she was resting easily in shoal water and in no further danger.

The Department announced the accident in this statement:

"Monday p. m. U. S. S. Olympia struck south of Cerberus shoal buoy in Block Island Sound. Port engine and fire rooms flooded. After ship lifted 10 degrees. Ship was then in shoal water for observation and is now resting easily in four and one-half fathoms on edge of shoal."

UNCLE SAM TO HOLD CONSCRIPTION HAND

Washington, June 27.—Regulation for drafting the new national army, now awaiting President Wilson's approval, contain provision for every step in the great undertaking except the actual method of the draft itself.

No official announcement has been made and official confirmation is being withheld, but it has been stated, and generally accepted here as true that the Federal Government itself will do the drafting, probably here in Washington, so there will be no opportunity for local favorites, political or otherwise.

Every Man Bears Number.

As the regulations stand now every registered man bears a number. The numbers will be forwarded to Washington, and the drawing will be entirely by number.

The identity of the numbered men will be unknown to those in charge of the draft machinery, and can be established only by comparing a number with a printed list of the man's home district.

As the numbers are drawn they will be telegraphed to the home districts, where the registered men will learn if they have been drafted.

To Decide Those Exempt.

Then the question of examination will come up, and this will go before the local boards. If a man is exempted the man bearing the number which was drawn next in order will take his place, and so on.

In this way all those available for service out of the 10,000,000 who registered will be made ready for the country's call, and from them the first increment of $25,000 will be assembled. The others will be called as the need develops as the war goes on.

Plenty of time will be given for drafted men to arrange their personal affairs and report to the cantonments. It is hoped to have them all in training by September 1, or very soon thereafter.

SAYS GERMANS WILL DEPORT BELGIANS TO RUMANIA

Illyre, June 26.—Belgians in the districts occupied by Germans, especially Mons, are fearful that the Germans intend to deport them to Rumania shortly, according to advices received by the Belgian Government. The Belgian authorities in a statement published to-day, reiterate that the Germans are only cavilling and playing on words when they assert "deportation of workers to Germany has ceased."

Though this may technically be the case, deportations to Northern France, points immediately behind the front, for work on roads, railroads and fortifications continue, the statement adds.

Plant Pumpkins In Corn.

Pumpkins planted in corn furnish a cheap appetizing stock feed. They should be planted by the latter part of June, putting a pumpkin seed to every sixth hill and in every missing corn hill. Pumpkins will affect but slightly the stand of corn and a large amount of the stock feed can be raised.

Pumpkins are relieved by cattle and hogs fed, uncooked with the seeds, they act as an appetizer and corrective of digestive trouble. Two and one-half tons of uncooked pumpkins are equal to a ton of corn silage to cattle. It has been found that 273 pounds of grain and 376 pounds of pumpkins produced 100 pounds of pork, the pumpkins saving 100 to 150 pounds of grain. The low cost of growing, ease of keeping, large yields, and the tonic qualities of a succulent feed available make pumpkin well worth while.

Save Ewe Lambs.

Save every ewe lamb possible for breeding is the urgent message the United States Department of Agriculture is sending to sheep owners. Market or slaughter only those absolutely worthless for breeding stock. There is a strong demand among farmers for breeding stock, and owners of ewe lambs should have no trouble finding a breeding market for them through county agents or the State agricultural colleges. Sheep specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture believe that although prices for breeding stock now are high, those who start production of wool and mutton on a moderate scale will have no cause to regret purchasing breeding stock at present figures.

Save In Harvesting.

Conservation of grain through efficient methods of harvesting, including stacking wherever labor conditions permit, is recommended to farmers by Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carl Vrooman.

"The Nation needs every head of grain that can be raised this summer," declared Mr. Vrooman. "Effort must be made to save every ounce of wheat, oats, and rye at the harvest. Each year hundreds, if not thousands of bushels of grain are ruined in regions where midsummer rains occur, because it is allowed to remain on the ground a prey to the weather. Keep in mind that a bushel of wheat will furnish bread for one person for about 75 days.

Harvesting machinery should be adjusted so that there is as little loss as possible in cutting. Care should be taken also to harvest all grain cleanly in the corners, along the edges of the fields, and in lodged spots.

More than unusual attention should be given to shocking in order that there may be as little waste as possible from exposure to the weather. If at all practicable, the grain should then be stacked as soon as it is cured in the shock. Shocks of bound or headed grain should be built carefully so that they will shed water. Every blade saved equals a blade produced.

In threshing, special attention should be given to the adjustment of the concaves and of separating machinery, to make sure that none of the grain is lost with the straw and chaff."

Fruit Juices For Jelly.

Fruit juices for use later in jelly making can be sterilized and bottled without sugar and made into jellies at the housewife's convenience. This enables her to do with fewer jelly glasses and to distribute her purchase of sugar for jelly making through the year. Moreover, with the bottled juice she can make a greater variety of jellies, as juices which will not jell can be put up when the fruit is ripe and combined later with fruits that will jell, or fruits ripening at different seasons can be combined. For example, the juice of strawberries, cherries, or pineapple can be kept without sugar and later when apples are plentiful can be made into combination jelly.

From the unsugared sterilized juices of currants, apples, crabapples and grapes, kept from 9 to 18 months, the Bureau of Chemistry, United States Department of Agriculture, recently made jellies of excellent texture, flavor, and color.

To put up unsugared fruit juices for jelly making proceed exactly as if jelly were to be made at the time. Cook the fruits until they are soft and strain out the juice through a flannel bag. Heat and pour while hot into bottles previously sealed. Fill the bottles full, leaving no air space between juice and cork or seal. Place the filled sealed bottles on their sides in water near the boiling point, and keep them in the bath for about 30 minutes. Make sure that the corked or sealed end is under the hot water. As soon as the bottles are cool cover the cork with a paraffin seal. Thorough sterilization and sealing are absolutely essential to success.

Breed Sows.

The practice of having brood sows produce two litters a year, as followed in some of the hog-raising sections of our country, should be encouraged, except where short seasons and severe winter weather prevent, the swine specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture advise.

Sows intended to farrow fall litters should be bred not later than the end of June. Those that are in breeding condition after weaning their spring litter should be bred the first time they come in heat. There are generally a few sows in the herd that are thin and run down in condition after weaning, and these should be fed a little heavier for a few weeks before breeding to insure a large litter in the fall. The date of breeding should be recorded so as to determine the date of farrow. The gestation period of a sow is 112 to 115 days. The sows should be watched closely to see if they come in heat after they are once bred, so that they can be rebred. The heat period is every 21 days.

After the sows are bred they should be turned into pasture and fed very little grain during the first part of the summer. Breeding stock must be kept hard and healthy, and to accomplish this roughages must constitute a large part of the ration. Alfalfa, clover, bluegrass, and Bermuda are permanent pasture crops which furnish excellent summer feed for sows. Rape, soy beans, cowpeas, and sorghum are especially adapted for swine feeding. Their use will reduce the necessary daily grain ration to 1 pound or less per hundred weight of sow during the grazing season, which is a large saving in favor of pasture. Plenty of water, shade, and space to exercise are other essentials for the production of strong, healthy litters.

The sows can run together in the same pasture within two or three weeks of the farrowing date. At this time those that are due to farrow should be separated from the herd and placed in a separate paddock or pen, where they can farrow their pigs undisturbed.

Keep the sow on pasture if possible, and provide dry, well-ventilated quarters free from draft in which she can farrow the pigs.

Prevent Disease In Stock.

Proper feeding and sanitation are two important preventions of disease losses in farm animals. If carefully applied these measures may prevent many losses of meat animals. Keep the animals sturdy and disease-resistant by feeding a good, whole-some diet. Young animals need particular care and should be kept growing. A balanced ration should be fed—one that contains enough digestible protein to supply the needs of bone and muscle growth.

The farmer should carefully consider the food requirements of his animals, as has been shown by the State experiment stations, in standard farm-animal books, and by the United States Department of Agriculture. Green feeds have a tonic as well as nutritive value and should be used wherever possible. With some feeds care must be used in feeding to avoid parasitic infection and the infection of such diseases as tuberculosis. Old pastures and mills used as a feed are examples of possible sources of disease to sheep and hogs, respectively. Pure water is another essential to animal health. Animals should not have access to water which may be contaminated as such streams passing through infested farms above, pools drained from barn lots, and so on.

Two naturally hygienic factors are fresh air and sunlight. Pure fresh air constantly available to an animal reduces the possibility of lung trouble. Impure air induces an animal's resistance to disease by failing to supply the oxygen necessary for the purification of the blood. Sunlight is a natural germicide and will keep animal surroundings free from disease.

Mukuntuweap National Monument in southeastern Utah, popularly known as the Little Zion Canyon, has resulted in measures to accommodate the many who are expected to visit it this coming summer. A concession covering public camp and transportation has been granted by the Department of the Interior.

For fantastic outline and brilliant and varied coloring Mukuntuweap probably equals any spot on this continent. Recent visitors have called it "the desert Yosemite." It inevitably suggests both, "You can't see it without shouting," reports one recent explorer.

The mormons of a former generation chose this valley for a refuge in the event of being driven from Zion, as they called Salt Lake City, and named it Little Zion. It is locally called Little Zion Canyon to-day. The north fork of the muddy Virgin River flows through it, and in the spring streams cascade from the lofty summit walls. Many fine trees—ash, maple, oak, spruce, and others—grow on the valley floor.

ROCKEFELLER'S BOYHOOD DREAM COMES TRUE

New York, June 26.—Back in the days when John D. Rockefeller, Jr., was only a boy and didn't have any troubles aside from speculation as to whether he was to have more than one plate of ice cream for dessert, he was wont to jump on his pony and gallop up along the banks of the Hudson River.

When he had reached a high knoll almost at the end of Manhattan, from which he could view the Palisades for many miles, he would stop and say:

"Some day I'm going to buy all this land around here and give it to the city so that everybody can enjoy it. This is a view everybody ought to see."

Queer dream for a boy to have, but it is soon to become a reality. Mr. Rockefeller has bought a strip running about two-thirds of a mile along the river for $2,000,000 and has offered it to the city of New York. Actual acceptance by city officials is all that prevents the consummation of the dream whereby the public will be enabled to enjoy the view everybody ought to see."

It is, at that, a view to be remembered with a broad sweep on the north along the Hudson to the crest of Storm King Mountain and southward for many a mile. The fifty-odd acres purchased by Mr. Rockefeller are about the highest in New York and form a link that will make almost complete the strip along the Hudson River from Seventy-second Street on, now used for park purposes.

On the lot that Mr. Rockefeller is to turn over to the city are magnificent buildings. One of the estates included in the fifty acres bought by him some time ago is that of C. K. G. Billings, noted horseman, whose house has long been regarded as one of the most beautiful in the city. There is a possibility that the house may be used as a museum, while the big stables and garage will be for public use.

There appear at present to be no obstacles to the acceptance of Mr. Rockefeller's magnificent philanthropy made no condition with his announcement, except that the city lay ground so that the entire river front from Seventy-second Street north would be a public playground. City officials are willing to do this and it is expected that but a short time will elapse before the boyhood dream of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., becomes a reality.

NOTICE.

We again call the attention of our readers to the fact that The Republican will publish no communications unless signed by the author. Few weeks pass that anonymous articles are not received and it is not our desire to find newsworthy items into the waste basket. This anonymous communication rule is stated each week at the head of the editorial column and must be adhered to. Requests that names be omitted from print are complied with, but the manuscript must bear the writer's signature.

Portland, Ore., June 25.—Two thousand foreigners will become citizens of the United States here in Naturalization Week, July 7 to 14, according to estimates of officers who have the work in charge.

Naturalization Week will be in connection with the convention of the National Education Association and the work will be conducted by the naturalization department of the Department of Labor. The Government will maintain an office at which naturalizations will be given of how foreigners are naturalized.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

"The Desert Yosemite."

Recent public interest in the Mukuntuweap National Monument in southeastern Utah, popularly known as the Little Zion Canyon, has resulted in measures to accommodate the many who are expected to visit it this coming summer. A concession covering public camp and transportation has been granted by the Department of the Interior.

For fantastic outline and brilliant and varied coloring Mukuntuweap probably equals any spot on this continent. Recent visitors have called it "the desert Yosemite." It inevitably suggests both, "You can't see it without shouting," reports one recent explorer.

ROCKEFELLER'S BOYHOOD DREAM COMES TRUE

The faces of some of the walls are inconceivably carved into domes, half domes, colonades, and temples. One gigantic cliff suggests a battleship, and is locally called the steamboat.

The faces of some of the walls contain thousands of square feet of plane surface upon which the elements have sketched various figures. At one point may be seen the picture of a woman, a horse and a pig, forming a distinct group. At another an eagle perches, true to this noble bird's instinct, high upon the cliff. At other points crypts have been formed in the walls by the shelving off of the stone surface in which may be seen other forms seemingly sculptured. Nature seems to have fashioned here a fine art gallery of stupendous proportions.

The coloring is beyond description. Glistening white is the basic color. Below this a strip of blood-red sandstone has weathered into formations resembling those of the Grand Canyon. There are thousands of feet of polished white sandstone vertically streaked with vermilion, like a Roman sash. There are pinks in endless shades.

The canyon is more than 10 miles long and from 1,200' to 2,000' feet wide. The neighborhood is rich in striking phenomena. There are natural bridges of great size and beauty. The country was settled by Mormons many years ago, and possesses much historical interest. Old-time Mormon customs obtain in the prosperous villages. Mukuntuweap may be reached by automobile and horseback from Lund.

Sour Stomach.

This is a mild form of indigestion. It is usually brought on by eating too rapidly or too much, or of food not suited to your digestive organs. If you will eat slowly, masticate your food thoroughly, eat but little meat and none at all for supper, you will more than likely avoid the sour stomach without taking any medicine whatever. When you have sour stomach take one of Chamberlain's Tablets to aid digestion.

Civil Officers Supreme.

Mexico City, June 25.—State and municipal affairs formally were turned over to the civil authorities throughout the republic June 1, when the order abolishing military control went into effect. Under that order, military commanders are commanders of garrisons only and have no authority to deal with civil or municipal affairs.

Heavenly Influence.

Marion was saying her prayers. "And please, God," she petitioned, "make Portland the capital of Maine."

"Why, Marion!" said her shocked mother. "What made you say that?"

Marion settled herself comfortably in bed.

"Cause I made it that way in my examination paper," she said, "and I want it to be right."

LIFE IN TRENCHES BEFORE AN ATTACK

CRAWLY, HUNGER-SICK FEELING
AS YOU WAIT THRU MINUTES
THAT ARE DAYS.

London, June 23.—Did you ever have the combined sensations of waiting in the attic to be whipped, watching the girl you're in love with go off with another fellow, and standing in the dock while the jury decides your fate?

If you have, you know what it is to be in the trenches, waiting for a charge.

The sensations mentioned are described by a Canadian sergeant in one of the Overseas Battalions, writing to a London paper. He says:

Crawly Feeling.

There's a crawly, goosy, hunger-sick, maggoty feeling in the stomach of you; a save-the-women-and-children-and-God-help-me grip at the heart. The raw of breaking down clutches and numbs the brain like the icy hand of the Grim Angel.

Have you ever been three hours alone in an attic waiting for your father to come home and give you the licking of your life? Did you ever see the only girl you could ever love going to the theater with another fellow? Did you ever sit (or is it stand) in the dock dumbly waiting for the jury to say whether you did or you didn't? Eh? Well, just roll these delightful sensations all into one, plaster a few shovelfuls of sticky, clammy mud around your legs and hands (not forgetting to save a little for your rifle),

Then Dash Of Ice.

Then finish off neatly with a dash of ice and sleet from the North Pole, and roll into an "assembly trench" in front of your own front line in No Man's Land. This is probably the feeling you will have while waiting "to go over."

A few centuries pass. You notice such trivial things as that your puttees are getting frayed. Ah, well! all the easier to get a new pair when you go on leave. Leave? God save you. You poor, miserable miserable, you're just awaiting your execution.

Ages Roll By.

Ages roll by. Some blasted fool is trying to smile—the same ghastly contortion of the facial muscles you would expect when caught by a physically fit and anti-prohibition coal-heaver in the arms of his wife.

More gloom, more wintry blasts, more "deeper depths."

Swish, swish, swish. Rapidly, say in half a second.

"There she goes," whispers an old hand in your ear. "She's opened up."

In No Man's Land:

Some one from somewhere makes a sign, and in about a second you are actually "over the top," in No Man's Land, face set toward—well whatever it happens to be. You are surprised to find that your blood still circulates, that you can leap, crawl, stagger onward—forward. And in what seems to be minute of time you are close up to "his" front line. You are glad he's putting up a scrap. You flop quickly into a shell hole and peep cautiously over the top. You are suddenly conscious that your comrades on your right and left are doing the same. There is no need to worry, tho, it is merely the gauging of the stride for the last leap. Just a minute.

He Is Grinning.

You are conscious of some one by your side for the first time. Why is he rolling his head around in that idiotic manner, as tho overcome by sleep? He is grinning. Ah! there is a hole thru his neck. It is the grin of death. Hiy jove! It's Jimmy. You are not shocked nor grieved—just surprised. The shock and grief will come later.

You find yourself moving again (the wait having occupied a minute or so), and that every one else is moving along the line. Also Fritz is moving, and that as fast as fear and the first law of nature will carry him. Then begins the big hunt. But that is another story.

The official reports will grandiloquently state that "We advanced on a front of," etc. The special war correspondent will submit that "Our boys magnificently stormed." But if you want it in the vernacular of the army you merely went "over the top."

BURIED TREASURE DUG UP BY MEXICAN GOVERNMENT

Mexico City, June 25.—The authorities of the State of Hidalgo have uncovered and taken charge of a large quantity of buried treasure, according to a statement issued here by the Department of Finance. This treasure, which consisted of gold bars, was found in a cave near Zacualtipan and is supposed to have been hidden there by bands of Zapatistas which, for many months, ranged the hills near Zacualtipan. It is thought the gold was taken by the Zapatistas from Ines and haciendas looted by the band and that they were cut off from the cave before they could remove it.

A Stump Jump Plow.

In western Australia they use a special type of plow called the "stump jump," on account of the fact that nearly all the areas susceptible of cultivation lie in that region are heavily wooded, and the land cannot be cleared of stumps and roots because of the dearth and high cost of labor. The stump jump plow, which is so made that it will roll over stumps and other obstructions lying on the ground.

Gardening.

The way to keep up the interest in gardening is not to do the same thing year after year. That is monotonous. Try the new fruits, vegetables and flowers. Hold to the old, tried and true for unfamiliarities, if desired, until they prove that they are what is wanted to entirely displace older varieties.—New York Sun.

U. S. GUNNERS HIT PERISCOPE

AMERICAN FREIGHT VESSEL GIVES SUBMARINE WARM RECEPTION.

An Atlantic Port, June 23.—A fight between an American freight steamer and a German submarine which took place June 6, one day out from Genoa, Italy, and resulted in the navy gunners on the American vessel scoring at least one hit, was reported by the Captain of the steamer on his arrival here today.

The captain said the U-boat suddenly appeared at a distance of about five hundred yards and launched a torpedo. Its wake was clearly discernible, and it was possible to maneuver the vessel so that it missed the ship by about twenty feet. Fire was immediately opened on the U-boat from a stern gun and four shots were discharged in rapid succession as the submarine submerged. The second shot, the captain said, struck the periscope throwing it high into the air and the last shot fired hit the water on the exact spot where the U-boat disappeared. The American vessel suffered no damage.

This is the second encounter reported within two days in which an American ship successfully defended herself against submarine attack.

MISS LELIA GLENN,
C. K. CARSON,
OZNA SHULTS,
Program Committee.

The attention of every teacher in the county is respectfully called to section 192 of the Common School Law which provides that real sickness or other disability is the only valid excuse for non-attendance during the full session of the Institute.

It was found impossible to place all teachers on the program, but all subjects are open for general discussion and every teacher is supposed to take part in them.

The Institute is primarily for the teacher, it is an expensive luxury and every teacher should bring something with him and take something away. An invitation is extended to the public to be present at all the sessions and especially on Thursday night—Trustee Day—and Thursday night, the night of the Common School graduation exercises.

You are also especially invited to attend the lecture on Wednesday evening, of Dr. W. A. Ganfield, who is recognized as one of the greatest platform orators of the South.

Everyone who passed the common school examination, either in January or May, is expected to be present on Thursday evening and receive their diplomas.

Prof. W. J. Craig, the Instructor, is at present one of the teachers in the W. K. S. N. at Bowling Green, Ky. He has had more than 20 years experience in school work, and is recognized as one of the strongest and most progressive school men of the State.

Please come, meet with us and get the inspiration, and if every teacher, trustee and patron in the county will do their duty, it will mean much for the betterment and uplift of the great army of more than 8,486 school boys and girls of our county.

Entrons, teachers, trustees and citizens, one and all, we will expect you.

Sincerely yours,
OZNA SHULTS, S. S. O. C.
